 4. Cyber Essentials Plus involves a technical audit of the systems that are within scope for Cyber Essentials. That includes a representative set of workstations, mobile devices and build types used by the organisation with access to corporate data. In advance of the Cyber Essentials Audit, the Customer will familiarise itself with the Supplier’s ‘Preparing for the Cyber Essentials Plus Audit’ guidance document.
 5. The assessor will randomly sample from the devices for internal testing. These devices must be end-user devices and cannot be built for the purpose of testing. The number of devices that will be tested as part of the Cyber Essentials audit is defined by the number of configurations of operating systems.
 6. The table below can be used to determine the representative sample size for the applicable number of configurations:

No. of configurations	Sample of devices tested
1	1
2-5	2
6-19	3
20-60	4
61+	5
 7. Please see table below for a worked example of the sample size:

Configuration type	No in use	Sample to test
Windows 10 v1999	6	3
Windows 10 v.2004	50	4
Ubuntu 18.04	3	2
Total sample size		9
 8. Cyber Essential Plus provides onsite or remote testing of the number of sample devices as agreed during the scheduling phase of the audit. If the Supplier needs to test more than the agreed sample size, additional testing will be charged at £100 per device.
 9. Invoices for Cyber Essentials Plus and IASME Governance standard will be raised after achieving the first stage of the accreditation (Cyber Essentials or IASME Governance), or after 60 days of your account creation, whichever comes first. Payment will be taken within five working days of issuing your invoice.
1. The PCI DSS is administered by the PCI Security Standards Council.
 2. The Supplier uses inhouse PCI Qualified Professionals to deliver consultancy in respect of the PCI DSS standard.
 3. You must accurately confirm the number of payment transactions the Customer process annually in order for the Supplier to deliver the correct consultancy program (either PCI Level 3 or PCI Level 4).
 4. Both PCI Level 3 and Level 4 include a Questionnaire (which is completed by the Customer with support from the Supplier) followed by a vulnerability scan of the endpoints that were identified as being in scope.
 5. Following completion of the Questionnaire by the Customer, the Supplier will conduct a pre-assessment check where a PCI Qualified Professional will review the Customer’s submission and highlight any gaps or non-compliances. The Supplier will schedule a video meeting with the Customer to provide feedback and consultancy around actions required.
 6. Following completion of the Questionnaire and once non-compliances have been rectified, the Supplier will then conduct a vulnerability scan using a scanning vendor platform approved by the PCI Security Standards Council (“ASV Platform”). Following the scan by the ASV Platform, the Supplier will advise which vulnerabilities need to be remediated in order to comply with PCI DSS.
 7. All endpoints listed as being within scope in the Questionnaire must be scanned using the ASV Platform. The Customer is required to provide adequate access to its systems to ensure a scan of every endpoint in scope can be conducted successfully.
 8. On successful completion of the project the Supplier will provide the Customer with a final copy of the Questionnaire as well as the compliant ASV Platform scan report.
